

The SSSJ Fellow International

The grade of International Fellowship of SSSJ (The Surface Science Society of Japan) is conferred upon a person with an extraordinary record of accomplishments in the field of surface science. The SSSJ Fellow International is expected to play leading roles in the field and to support the international activities of SSSJ. The total number selected in any one year does not exceed three. Each new Fellow receives a beautiful gold certificate. The recipient of this grade can call himself as The SSSJ Fellow International for ten years from the date of issue of the certificate.

The SSSJ Fellow International 2015

The first three SSSJ Fellow Internationals are Prof. Charles S. Fadley (University of California, Davis, USA), Prof. Roland Wiesendanger (University of Hamburg, Germany), and Prof. Qi-Kun Xue (Tsinghua University, China).

 	Charles S. Fadley Professor in University of California, Davis, USA
 	Roland Wiesendanger Professor in University of Hamburg, Germany
 	Qi-Kun Xue Professor in Tsinghua University, China